PREFACE

In1988, R.R. Bowker published the first edition of Variety's Complete Home Video Directory. Utilizing the vast entertainment resource of Variety along with Bowker's database and directory development knowledge, R.R. Bowker produced the definitive "home video" database and video directory. Throughout two editions, this directory served both the video and the library industries, providing the very best, most authoritative information on home videos.

In 1989, after considerable research and in response to patron requests, Bowker began the process of expanding the scope of the Variety database beyond the limitations of home video, in order to better serve the ever-widening video community. While users found the Variety directory useful, they expressed interest in more information that went beyond entertainment and home video. The result was Bowker's Complete Video Directory 1990.

This edition—Bowker's Complete Video Directory 2010—retains this emphasis.

VOLUMES 1, 2, 3, & 4

Each volume is formatted the same way—complete descriptive and ordering information for each entry is in the Titles section, followed by several cross-referencing indexes in Volumes 2 and 4.

Volumes 1 and 2 include more than 71,909 Entertainment and Performance titles.

Volumes 3 and 4 feature more than 137,643 educational and special interest videos (documentaries, how-to's, certain sports titles, and other videos directed toward specialized audiences) and educational programs.

THE INDEXES—VOLUMES 1 & 2

The Awards Index located in the prefatory section lists major film and television industry awards by year. The Genre Index in Volume 2 covers 364 entertainment genres, of which 15 are related to Hollywood movies; in addition, there are foreign films (36 sections), animated features and silents. Other subjects include sports events (in 22 categories), television series and variety shows, children's programs, concert and music videos, and more. A complete list of all genre headings precedes the main Genre Index; it includes page numbers for easy reference.

The Cast/Director Index is in Volume 2, where the smaller Spanish Language, Laser Videodisc, and Closed-Captioned indexes are also found. Volume 2 concludes with the sections that direct the user to the Manufacturer Name Index, and Wholesaler and Distributor Name Index.

THE INDEXES—VOLUMES 3 & 4

The Subject Index in Volume 4 encompasses a wide range of approximately 529 categories, with subjects as diverse as Acupuncture and Anthropology to Word Processing and Yoga. A full list of subject headings with page references to the main Subject Index is also included here.

The smaller program indexes cover Series, Laser Videodisks, the 8mm Format, Closed-Captioned videos, and International Standards. Volume 4 concludes with the Manufacturers and Distributors Name indexes.

TITLE SELECTION

The selection of titles for Volumes 1 and 2 was based solely on the entertainment and/or performance nature of any given program. For example, while Hollywood and foreign feature films posed no selection problems (if a feature was produced for the purpose of theatrical exhibition, it's either in Volume 1 or 2), opera and dance are included in the Entertainment volumes only if the material is a public performance of some kind; how-to, documentary, and biography titles in those arts are considered "Special Interest", and can be found in Volumes 3 and 4. Similarly, athletic highlights and events have been deemed entertainment and can be located in Volumes 1 and 2, under individual sports within the genre "Highlights and Matches," while the remainder of the thousands of sports videos are in the Education/Special Interest volumes, indexed under each sport in the Subject Index.

Children's titles also cover a wide range of interests and subjects. In keeping with the above-stated policy, however, only children's programs that are considered purely entertainment are included in Volumes 1 and 2 (movies, made-for-television programs, storybook dramatizations and the like). Special interest and educational titles for children are in Volumes 3 and 4, indexed under the specific subject in question. For example, the Volume 4 subject categories "Pets," "Hobbies," and "Music–How-To" all contain programs developed for children, as well as "Cheerleading," "Holidays," and various academic disciplines (e.g., "Language Arts," "Science"). Religious programs, too, pose some classification questions, as some of the biblical dramatizations and presentations could perhaps be perceived as Entertainment. The established policy, however, is that except for feature films with a religious basis, such as The Greatest Story Ever Told (listed under the heading Religious Drama), religion is considered Special Interest, and thus appears in Volumes 3 and 4.

ISBN AGENCY

Educational and Instructional Videos should be assigned an International Standard Book Number by the producer. All ISBNs listed in this directory have been validated by using the check digit control, ensuring accuracy. ISBNs allow order transmission and bibliographic information updating using publishing industry supported EDI formats (e.g., ONIX). Publishers not currently participating in the ISBN system may request the assignment of an ISBN Publisher Prefix from the ISBN Agency by calling 877-310-7333, faxing 908-219-0188, or through the ISBN/SAN web site at http://www.isbn.org. Please note: The ISBN prefix 0-615 is for decentralized use by the U.S. ISBN Agency and has been assigned to many publishers. It is not unique to one publisher.

SAN AGENCY

Another listing feature in Bowker's Complete Video Directory is the Standard Address Number (SAN). The SAN is a unique identification number assigned to each address of an organization in or served by the publishing industry; it facilitates communications and repetitive transactions with other members of the industry. The SAN functions in its application to activities such as purchasing, billing, shipping, receiving, paying, crediting and refunding, and can be used for any other communication or transaction between participating organizations. To obtain an application or further information on the SAN system, please visit the ISBN/SAN web site at www.isbn.org. The editors wish to extend their thanks to the manufacturers, distributors, and suppliers who provided information for Bowker's Complete Video Directory. It is our goal to provide the best, most thorough, most comprehensive directory of home and educational video available. Users' suggestions and comments about the information and format of the directory are always welcome.

HOW TO USE THIS DIRECTORY

The 2010 edition of Bowker's Complete Video Directory was produced from the Books In Print database. Volumes 1 and 2 (Entertainment) contain 71,909 entries, while Volumes 3 and 4 (Education/Special Interest) cover approximately 137,643 entries. Program titles are available from approximately 8,646 manufacturers who are listed in the Manufacturer Name Index in Volumes 2 and 4, along with addresses, phone and fax numbers, e-mail and web site addresses, and other pertinent information. The Wholesaler and Distributor Name Index provides contact information for 1,304 video wholesalers and distributors. Word-by-word alphabetizing is utilized in each section of the directory. Therefore, Man of La Mancha precedes The Manchurian Candidate and On the Waterfront appears before One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest. The articles "A," "An," and "The" are ignored in alphabetizing, as are their foreign counterparts.

Volumes 1 and 2 (Entertainment) of Bowker's Complete Video Directory contain descriptive listings for feature films and other performing arts and entertainment events, all available to the home video market. Following these annotated entries in the Titles section are a total of twelve Indexes.

If the title of a specific program is known, it may be found merely by checking the Titles section. The two major indexes are the Cast/Director Index and the Genre Index. The works of a favorite performer or director that are available on home video can easily be found by inspecting the Cast/Director Index, while a review of the Genre Index can identify the programs available in any one of the 364 entertainment genres. A separate list of genre headings is included so that users may easily reference the genres in the main index. Other indexes are useful for locating titles that have particular characteristics (Spanish Language, Series, Closed-Captioned, Awards) or those that are available in another form (Laser Videodisc, 8mm, or the International Standards PAL and SECAM).

Each entry in the title index, of course, contains complete ordering information and indicates the source of the program. These sources are listed in the Manufacturer Name Index, with addresses, phone and fax numbers, and other helpful information. Companies listed after the abbreviation "Dist(s):" may be found in the Wholesaler and Distributor Name Index.

TITLES

All Entertainment titles–whether feature films, sporting events, children's shows, foreign films, made-for-television programs and specials, silent movies, dance and opera performances, dramatized adaptations, comedy concerts, or musical performances–that are available on videocassette for the home market are listed alphabetically. Each entry contains the following information, in the order shown, when available:

Title, subtitle, volume number or total number of cassettes, original or translated title, original source, theatrical release date, subject (or subjects), hue (black-&-white, color, or colorized), running time, series title, series volume or number, closed-captioned symbol, MPAA rating, language, dubbed/ narrated/subtitled, video release date. (NOTE: Closed captioned titles are indicated by use of the service mark CC®. This registered service mark identifies programs closed-captioned by the National Captioning Institute, used by permission.)

This information is followed by contributors (actors, producer, director, screenwriters, composers, and others).

The annotation, or program description, is the next item of information, followed by major awards earned by motion pictures and other programs.

The rest of the entry presents ordering information, including the program manufacturer or license-holder; the formats and standards available; supplementary materials; preview and rental information; the manufacturer's or distributor's suggested retail price; the UPC, ISBN-13 followed by (in parentheses) the check digit for the ISBN-10, or the Library of Congress number, and the order number. When applicable, distributor(s) are listed at the end of the entry, after the abbreviation "Dist(s):" and their related price(s). "Price not set" indicates that no retail price has yet been issued by the manufacturer or distributor.

In some cases, forthcoming titles will be listed when the release date is not yet known. All data will be included for these titles, but the phrase "Date not set" will appear instead of the video release date. In other cases, popular movies may have been available in the past and will perhaps be in the future, but are not currently in active distribution. These titles will also be included, but in place of the ordering information, the phrase "withdrawn from distribution" will appear. And for those programs that have been given a special promotional sale price for a limited time, we will include all applicable information regarding the temporary price. All prices are manufacturers' or distributors' suggested retail prices at date of publication.

All of the titles carried in Volumes 1 and 2 have Home rights; in addition, some have Public Performance rights. Entries in Volumes 3 and 4 include a notation of the rights related to each title.

Titles annotated with an asterisk (*) are new to this year's edition.

CAST/DIRECTOR INDEX

An alphabetical listing of all performers and directors is included in this index. Each name is followed by an alphabetical listing of the movies or programs featuring that person, which can then be examined in the Titles section for complete information about the program.

LIST OF GENRE HEADINGS

This new index is a brief alphabetical list of all genres available in the main Genre Index, with a specific page reference number for each.

GENRE INDEX

The Genre Index arranges all entries from the Titles section alphabetically in more than 364 categories. In addition to Hollywood and foreign feature films on video, the Genre Index also categorizes more than fifty other entertainment and performance genres, including athletic events/highlights in all the major and most of the minor sports; dance, opera, and Broadway shows in performance; a vast array of children's entertainment programming; made-for-television features, series, and specials; comedy and musical concerts; and made-for-video performances and dramatizations. Programs relevant to more than one genre are included in each applicable category. When a program in a particular genre (e.g., Musical Concerts–Jazz, Western, Highlights and Matches– Golf) is sought, check that category for titles and then look up the programs in the Titles section, for complete descriptive information.

SERIES INDEX

Responding to users' requests, this index has been developed to identify and detail the series that have been so designated by manufacturers (e.g., the MGM/UA Diamond Jubilee Collection), as well as a selection of the more popular of these feature films that are concerned with continuing characters or themes (e.g., The Thin Man, Rocky). Every title that comprises each series is listed here.

SPANISH-LANGUAGE INDEX

This index consists of a listing of those titles that were produced in Spanish-speaking countries, as well as the programs that are narrated in Spanish or have been dubbed or subtitled in the Spanish language. Complete program information about each title can be found in the Titles section.

CLOSED-CAPTIONED INDEX

Many programs on videocassette are closed-captioned for the hearing impaired by the National Captioning Institute, in both the Entertainment and the Education/Special Interest areas. The Closed-Captioned Index lists these programs alphabetically by title.

AWARDS INDEX

This index is arranged chronologically by the year in which the award was presented. It lists movies available on video that have won major international film industry awards, television programs that have won the top Emmy awards, and video programs that have been chosen as the best program of the year by the Video Software Dealers' Association (VSDA). The following awards are included:

Academy Awards:
Best Picture Best Supporting Actor
Best Director Best Supporting Actress
Best Actor Best Foreign Language Film
Best Actress Best Documentary Directors

Guild of America:
Features

Golden Globe Awards:
Best Dramatic Motion Picture
Best Musical/Comedy Motion Picture
Best Foreign Film

The titles selected as the best of the year by the following groups are also noted:

Berlin International Film Festival
British Academy Awards
Cannes International Film Festival
National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences
National Film Registry
National Society of Film Critics
New York Film Critics Circle
Venice Film Festival
Video Software Dealers' Association

MANUFACTURER NAME INDEX

All companies listed in the Title entries as the manufacturer of the video programs are listed alphabetically with complete addresses, telephone numbers, fax numbers, e-mail and web site addresses. A dagger preceding an entry and the notation "CIP" at the end of an entry both indicate that the manufacturer participates in the Cataloging in Publication Program of the Library of Congress. If applicable, a list of company's distributors appears at the end of the entry. Full information for these distributors may then be found in the Wholesaler and Distributor Name Index. The manufacturer is the original source or supplier of the program or movie; it may be the current licensee, the copyright holder, or the company whose label appears on the videocassette package. Many, but not all, of the feature films on video were produced by a major Hollywood studio, then licensed to the home video division of that studio, which is listed here as the manufacturer. All area, regional, and national distributors that have titles in Volumes 1 and 2 are included in the separate Wholesaler and Distributor Name Index.

Cross-references are used in this index for two purposes: (1) certain video divisions of major home entertainment companies are referenced to the parent company and (2) companies that have undergone a name change or have been acquired by another company within recent months are referenced to the new name or new owner.

WHOLESALER AND DISTRIBUTOR NAME INDEX

In addition to video wholesalers, all distributors listed in the Title Index and/or the Manufacturer Name Index may be referenced here. Companies are listed alphabetically by their abbreviated names, followed by full address, telephone and fax numbers, and e-mail and web site addresses.

After Modernism: The Dilemma of Influence. Color. 58 mins. NR. Video Released Jun. 1992. Directed by Michael Blackwood. Featuring Isa Genzken, David Hammons, Mike Kelley, Bertrand Lavier, Laurie Simmons, Richard Wentworth. Produced by Michael Blackwood. The purposeful dismantling of the modernist myth has been the central issue of contemporary art making and art criticism. Since the 1960's, other disciplines, cultures, and artists previously excluded from modernism's privileged cannons have become absorbed into an ever expanding field of artistic creativity and influence. The ready-made has now attained a status commensurate with cubist collage. These younger artists are a new breed of cultural scavengers - anything or anyone is fair game for appropriation or reinterpretation. Blackwood, Michael Productions, Inc. DVD. $330.00.

AIDS - A Biological Perspective: Why Is a Cure So Elusive? (1995). Aids (Disease). 30 mins. (AIDS Education Ser.). Since the first known cases of AIDS were reported in the U.S. in the early 1980s, scientists & researchers have learned a great deal about this mysterious disease. Advances have been made in our understanding of HIV & the ways in which it is spread. AIDS is now the number one cause of death for people between the ages of 25 & 44 in the United States. Why has it been so difficult to find a cure or vaccine? What makes AIDS so deadly? What is the HIV virus & how does it devastate the immune system? This eye-opening new video explores these questions, providing fascinating insights into the unique qualities of the HIV virus that make AIDS such a relentless killer. Colorful graphics & interviews help viewers follow the life cycle of the HIV virus, how it reproduces & the path it take through the body's cells. AIDS researchers & educators discuss the progress that has been made in learning about the disease & the obstacles to finding a cure. Viewers learn about the nature of viruses, the immune system & what makes HIV different from other viruses. The human issues concerning the disease are poignantly shown & the medical perplexities are explained in a simple, straightforward manner. Shopware Educational Systems. VHS. Air Battles at Sea. (1991). Military History. Aviation And Aeronautics. Color. 25 mins. (First Flights Ser.: Episode No. 9). Video Released Nov. 1991. The air war in the Pacific imposed its own special terms. Airplanes often had to fly long distances before reaching their targets. Representing the latest technology available, the Japanese Zero was the ideal air weapon for the island-hopping Pacific war. While the Japanese built fleets of light, replaceable aircraft, the Americans opted for the opposite solution by building large, high-powered warbirds that could patrol huge expanses of ocean. The reality of pilot fatigue suddenly entered into the equation of survival, testing the limits of a man's concentration. A & E Home Video. VHS. (ISBN: 978-1-56501-030-7(2), Order #: 10209) $14.95.

Airs in Berberland Pt. 1: Vibrations in the High Atlas. (1992). Anthropology. Africa. Color. 26 mins. (Morocco, Body & Soul Ser.). Directed by Izza Genini. As one climbs high in the Atlas mountains, all signs of modern life fades away, leaving only the earth & sky & nothing in between. Water is the element around which the essential gestures of life fit together. Spontaneous or interpreted, the music expresses this primeval universe: women singing in high polyphonies, in "youyous" or "ritornelles," accompany every action. the flute & frame drum are the only instruments played by men, at nightfall, when villagers assemble to dance "adersi," which recalls the cosmic round rance. First Run/Icarus Films. VHS.

The Alchemy of Humor, 2 cass. (1999). Interpersonal Relations. Color. 180 mins. (Science & Consciousness Ser.). Made-for-Video. Video Released Jun. 1999. Steve Bhaerman. Interactive workshop explores the magic of humor & how it can be used to transmute tension into release, pain into insight, rigidity into flexibility & separation into connectedness. Participants are helped to identify & use constructive humor to gain perspective & "leverage" in their own lives & to use the ancient art of "Fu Ling" to open the hearts & minds of others. Ideas explored include: how to distinguish between humor that is transforming & humor that is merely "trance-forming" (i.e. humor that keeps us stuck in dysfunctional trances); using laughter to illuminate the shadow, the parts of ourselves which are suppressed, hidden or undeveloped; finding & using humorous healing stories to reframe adversity & heal relationships; using your "laugh story" to help heal your past & design your future. Alcohol: What about it? Color. 955 mins. CC (J). Age: 9-11. (gr. 4-6). Video Released Jan. 2001. Alcohol is the most abused drug in the United States. It is the leading cause of automobile accidents; it is a significant factor in the incidence of suicide every year; and it causes irreparable damage to the alcohol abuser's health. A young boy, tempted to take his first drink, wrestles with the decision on a deserted baseball diamond. There he encounters a spectral ball player, who guides him through the decision-making process. Alcohol: What About It? helps students become aware of immediate and far-reaching effects of alcohol use. It explores these topics: What about the effects of alcohol use and abuse? What about strategies for dealing with stress, conflict, or negative feelings? What about decision-making, problem-solving, and assertiveness skills? What about the value of supportive personal relationships at home, at school, and in the community? This positive program stresses the values of self-reliance, self-care, personal responsibility, and individualism in the face of choices that affect health and well-being. Marsh Media. VHS, tchr. ed. All about Enemas, Color. 62 mins. Age: 18-UP. G. Video Released Sep. 2003. Finally, an educational enema movie by a professional colon hydrotherapist that covers enemas from A-Z. Kristina Amelong, an internationally certified colon therapist, starts the viewer with the "enema" definition and then extensively covers details on the anatomy and physiology of the colon, the enema process including, positions to use and why, what equipment is needed, types of solutions and implants to inject, nozzle styles and their useage, plus extensive safety issues. In this enema video, Kristina graphically reviews all types of equipment that is commercially available: bulb syringes, fountain syringe bags, specialty equipment, nozzles, and even shares recipes for the solutions that she uses in her clinic. Especially helpful to the viewer will be the live demonstrations on using bulb syringes, taking a cleansing enema and using larger volume enemas for total colon cleansing. Kristina's ultimate goal is to help people discover the benefits of colon care using enemas as a part of their total health care regime. She believes "knowledge is power" and that by understanding and using enemas you can reach a state of optimal health. American Abstraction. Art-Appreciation And Criticism. Art-History. Color. 53 mins. (Adventure of Modern Art Ser.). Age: 15-UP. (gr. 10 up). Directed by Carlos Vilardebo. Narrated by Andre Parinaud, Carlos Vilardebo. The narrator of "American Abstraction" claims that art in the United States always considered itself dependent on European art, particularly when it sustained the shock of modern art arriving from Europe in 1913 to be presented at the Armory Show. American painters tried to adapt these new forms to their own outlook on life, but their art was no more than adaptation. Certain painters looked elsewhere: for example, Arshile Gorky found inspiration in the mythology of his homeland, Armenia. Also features the work of Rivera, Thomas Hart Benton, Orozco, Stuart Davis, Motherwell, De Kooning, Franz Kline & others. French version available. Roland Collection. VHS. Another Road Home, 1 disc. 79 mins. Age: 10-UP. Video Released Apr. 2006. Author Danae Elon. NOTHER ROAD HOME, presents a provocative look at the relationship between two families, one, Israeli and one, Palestinian. In spite of contrasting lives, their shared humanity is the understanding we take away. This film is a the deeply personal chronicle of an Israeli woman's quest (filmmaker Danae Elon) to reconnect with her Muslim Palestinian caregiver. Exploring the delicate boundaries between family, class, and politics with unsentimental acuity seasoned by deep affection, director Danae Elon illuminates not only the often troubled political heritage shared by these two families, but a hope for the future in her quest to find ANOTHER ROAD HOME. Shortly after the Six Day War in 1967, Danae Elon's highly educated parents, noted Israeli author Amos Elon, and former correspondent and literary agent Beth Elon, hired Musa Obeidallah, the father of eleven children, to take care of their 6 month old daughter on a daily basis. It was a job Musa would continue for the next twenty years. Then she was grown. Through hard work and sacrifice, Musa managed to save enough money to send his 8 sons to America for education and career opportunity. The last time Danae saw Musa, in 1991, he proudly showed her the house he constructed in Battir. Then, against the mounting tensions of the Israeli occupation and the Palestinian Intifada, the two families lost track of each other. Over the years, Danae realized how much of an influence Musa had in her upbringing. Her quest to reconnect with Musa led her from her home in New York to Paterson, New Jersey, then to the Palestinian village of Battir in the occupied territories, and back to her birthplace in Jerusalem. As they carefully break the silence, the encounters between Danae and Musa's sons, and eventually Musa himself, bring to the surface a story that is alternately heartwarming and painful. "Our hearts and lives are shaped by the people that have always surrounded us, those who have nourished and loved us. Musa became part of our family, part of the way I formed my perception and grew to understand my surroundings; no war could take that away from me." -Danae Elon Anotherroadhomethemovie.com. The AntiChrist & a Cup of Tea: Presentations, 4 vols. Based on a book by Tim Cohen. Color. 346 mins. mins. Home. NR. (Narrated: English). Video Released Nov. 2005. Author Tim Cohen. Featuring Tim Cohen. Instructed by Tim Cohen. Can the saints of God in Christ recognize the AntiChrist now? Could this truly be possible? Yes! Tim Cohen reveals hard evidence in THE ANTICHRIST AND A CUP OF TEA - the foremost book on the subject of the AntiChrist in history. Likewise, in Tim's excellent presentations, contained herein, you will learn about the fascinating saga of the British Monarchy's centuries-long endeavor to establish a "New World Order," and see hard evidence to suggest the actual identity of the coming AntiChrist. Watch these presentations on "The AntiChrist and a Cup of Tea." as well as Tim's June 30, 2005, interview with God's Learning Channel - all on four DVDs. The first presentation, from June 10, 1999, is the perfect length (one hour) for sharing Tim's research on the coming AntiChrist with your friends and loved ones. The second, much lengthier presentation - an overview of, and an update to "The AntiChrist and a Cup of Tea" on two DVDs - is taken from Tim's 2005 "Messiah, History, and the Tribulation Period" Prophecy Conference. This latter presentation, like Tim's GLC interview, discusses and shows the "Saviour of the World" statue dedicated in 2002 to the man who, according to bible prophecy, will soon be the AntiChrist - and much more. If you doubt or deny that the coming AntiChrist shall be made known to the saints of God in Christ before the coming Great Tribulation, and before Yeshua's (Jesus') return for the saints, you will have no doubts after watching these!. Prophecy House, Inc. DVD. (ISBN: 978-1-933689-14-2(5), Order #: DVDPack04) $69.95.

Apostle Paul & the Earliest Churches. Color. 48 mins. mins. Video Released Sep. 2004. Apostle Paul and the Earliest Churches is a brilliant and illuminating production. Beginning with the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, this production reenacts Paul's three missionary journeys on Anatolian soil (modern Turkey). Not only are the key archaeological sites in each city that the Apostle Paul visited displayed, but also the natural, rugged Anatolian beauty- the same beauty that Paul encountered almost 2,000 years ago. Indeed, the viewer is exposed to an archaeological treasury in this brief, forty-eight minute production: mosaics, frescoes, statues, amphitheaters, Roman roads, tunnels, agoras, ancient libraries, and temples. Additionally, care is given to explain the historical, religious, and archaeological background of each Anatolian region and city that Paul preached the gospel in. Yet, Apostle Paul and the Earliest Churches is much more than an archaeological or historical survey; this production's reenactment of the miracles Paul performed, the difficulties Paul encountered, and the persecution Paul faced, beckons the viewer to experience with Paul himself the birth of the Christian church. After watching this production, the viewer will undoubtedly conclude with the narrator that, "Paul blessed all of earth's beauty with the oil of God's love. His life was an epic of dedication. Application of Pre-Woven Cane. (1992). Handicraft. Color. 45 mins. (YA). Age: 15-UP. (gr. 10 up). G. Made-for-Video. Video Released Sep. 1992. Linda Hickman. Directed by Keith R. Beck. Score by Interlace Productions Staff. Visually, at first glance, this technique resembles the 7-step method, a more difficult technique of hand caning. A pre-woven technique type chair is distinguished either by a groove around the perimeter of the area to be caned, or in the less common type, a frame that is screwed into the inside of the seat. Although one of the easiest techniques to accomplish, the video illustrates thoroughly, from beginning to end, the insertion of the machine made cane into both the groove type & the less common frame type of chair seat. Applications of Conic Sections: The Eccentric Professor. Mathematics-Applied. Color. 23 mins. (YA). Age: 14-17. (gr. 9-12). G. Made-for-Video. Video Released Oct. 1994. The ellipse, the parabola, & the hyperbola are brought to life by a team of teenagers seeking to answer that age-old question, "What good is math in the real world?" Each of the conics is introduced by Professor McConical, a teacher from bygone days when math was thought of as all formulas & memorization. His stark definitions are vividly illustrated as the teens navigate through video segments & computer graphics. Even viewers who have never heard of conic sections will come away with a deep appreciation for these curves & their prevalence in the physical world. Human Relations Media. VHS, Incl. follow-up activities. (ISBN: 978-1-55548-510-8(3), Order #: 124-VSD) $125.00.

Applications of Logarithms. Mathematics-Algebra. Mathematics-Trigonometry. Color. 24 mins. (YA). Age: 14-17. (gr. 9-12). G. Made-for-Video. Video Released Oct. 1995. For someone studying algebra, the introduction of new concepts can sometimes be frustrating. When a topic like logarithms is introduced, many students raise the question, "What are they & how are they used?" Dynamic images, computer graphics, & familiar language help to bring the mathematics of exponential & logarithmic functions to life. Students will come away with a clear mental picture of the behavior of these functions & of their many occurrences in the real world. Human Relations Media. VHS, Incl. transparencies & follow-up kit. Applications of PDE Methods by Gromov, Floer, & Others to Symplectic Geometry: Progress in Mathematics Ser. (1990). Mathematics-Geometry. 90 mins. Dusa McDuff. The past few years have seen several exciting developments in the field of symplectic geometry, & researchers in this area have begun to make progress in solving many important & hitherto inaccessible problems. The new techniques making this possible have come both from the calculus of variations & from the theory of elliptic partial differential operators. McDuff examines some of these new developments, including Gromov's results using elliptic methods, & how Floer applied these elliptic techniques to develop a new approach to Morse theory.
